DE LA ESPADA
Shaker

Neri & Hu has designed a number of new pieces in collaboration with De La Espada, including Shaker dining table and chair, and the Frame collection. Inspired by the simple, utilitarian approach of the movement after which they are named, Shaker is available in a variety of colours and finishes. Meanwhile, Frame consists of a bed and sofa system supported by a clear wooden frame structure.

GERVASONI
Brick

Designed by Paola Navone, the Brick collection centres on earthy tones and nature. Brick tables with natural hand carved Wrightia trunk sections, storage units in natural or lacquered American walnut, and chairs with handwoven grey rawhide take centre stage. The Brick 36 table features a polished trunk base, with a round top in waxed iron plate.

COLEBROOK BOSSON SAUNDERS
Cubert

Colebrook Bosson Saunders has announced the launch of Cubert, the new personal light with integrated power and personal charging. The sleek design features two mains sockets and two USB power outlets for charging electronic devices. At 300mm tall, Cubert provides impressive light coverage via high efficiency, long-life LED, with a four-stage dimmable touch activated switch and just a 80x80mm footprint. Extremely versatile, the product can be used in reception areas, and also as a bedside light.

APAISER
KH by Apaiser

Australian bathware manufacturer Apaiser has collaborated with interior designer Kelly Hoppen to create a new design-led collection; Kelly Hoppen by Apaiser. Inspired by Asian culture, the new range includes layered designs resembling the lotus flower in the form of Harmony; Origami, inspired by the intricate Japanese art; and Bande, originally based on the Obi, a sash used in traditional Japanese dress. Formulated with optimum performance in mind using reclaimed sustainable marble as its core, each piece has minimal impact on the environment, yet does not compromise on quality.
