For life, listening, hiding away, working, relaxing, and more besides...

Hayón x Nani

In this case, one and one don't make two. Instead, Nani Marquina's rug-making skills plus Jaime Hayón's designs result in rugs that are imaginative, dynamic and poetic. Created with the hand tufting technique, the rugs faithfully reproduce the geometric lines and organic compositions of the artist's original drawings, thread by thread. At first glance, it appears that a chaotic mishmash of colours and shapes is running riot over the rug. A closer look, however, reveals how Jaime Hayón's imagination has sprung into life to depict turtles, lips, hands, stools, fish, half-men, half-birds...

Sonorous

The Multiroom Collection from Bang & Olufsen offers a musical – and aesthetic – experience. It enriches interiors with both an outstanding sound quality and a timeless design that uses the finest materials. From when you wake up in the morning and listen to your favourite music with a gentle touch of the speaker to when you drop off to sleep at night to the system's matchless sound, you'll find the Collection perfect for your needs. Bang & Olufsen has years of experience in bringing intelligent multiroom solutions to market, and has been offering innovative networked audio systems since the 1980s. No cables or technical know-how are needed for its multiroom devices. They're ready for use straight from the box.

Folding screen

This free-standing room divider, made up of 12 mm-thick felt panels, can be configured to any length. The individual sections are held together by a fabric cord or leather strap, which also acts as a hinge. This ensures the screen can move freely, enabling its panels to be set up in a strict line or a harmonious curve. Available in light grey or anthracite in two heights: 130 cm or 180 cm.
